

TOMMY GENESIS

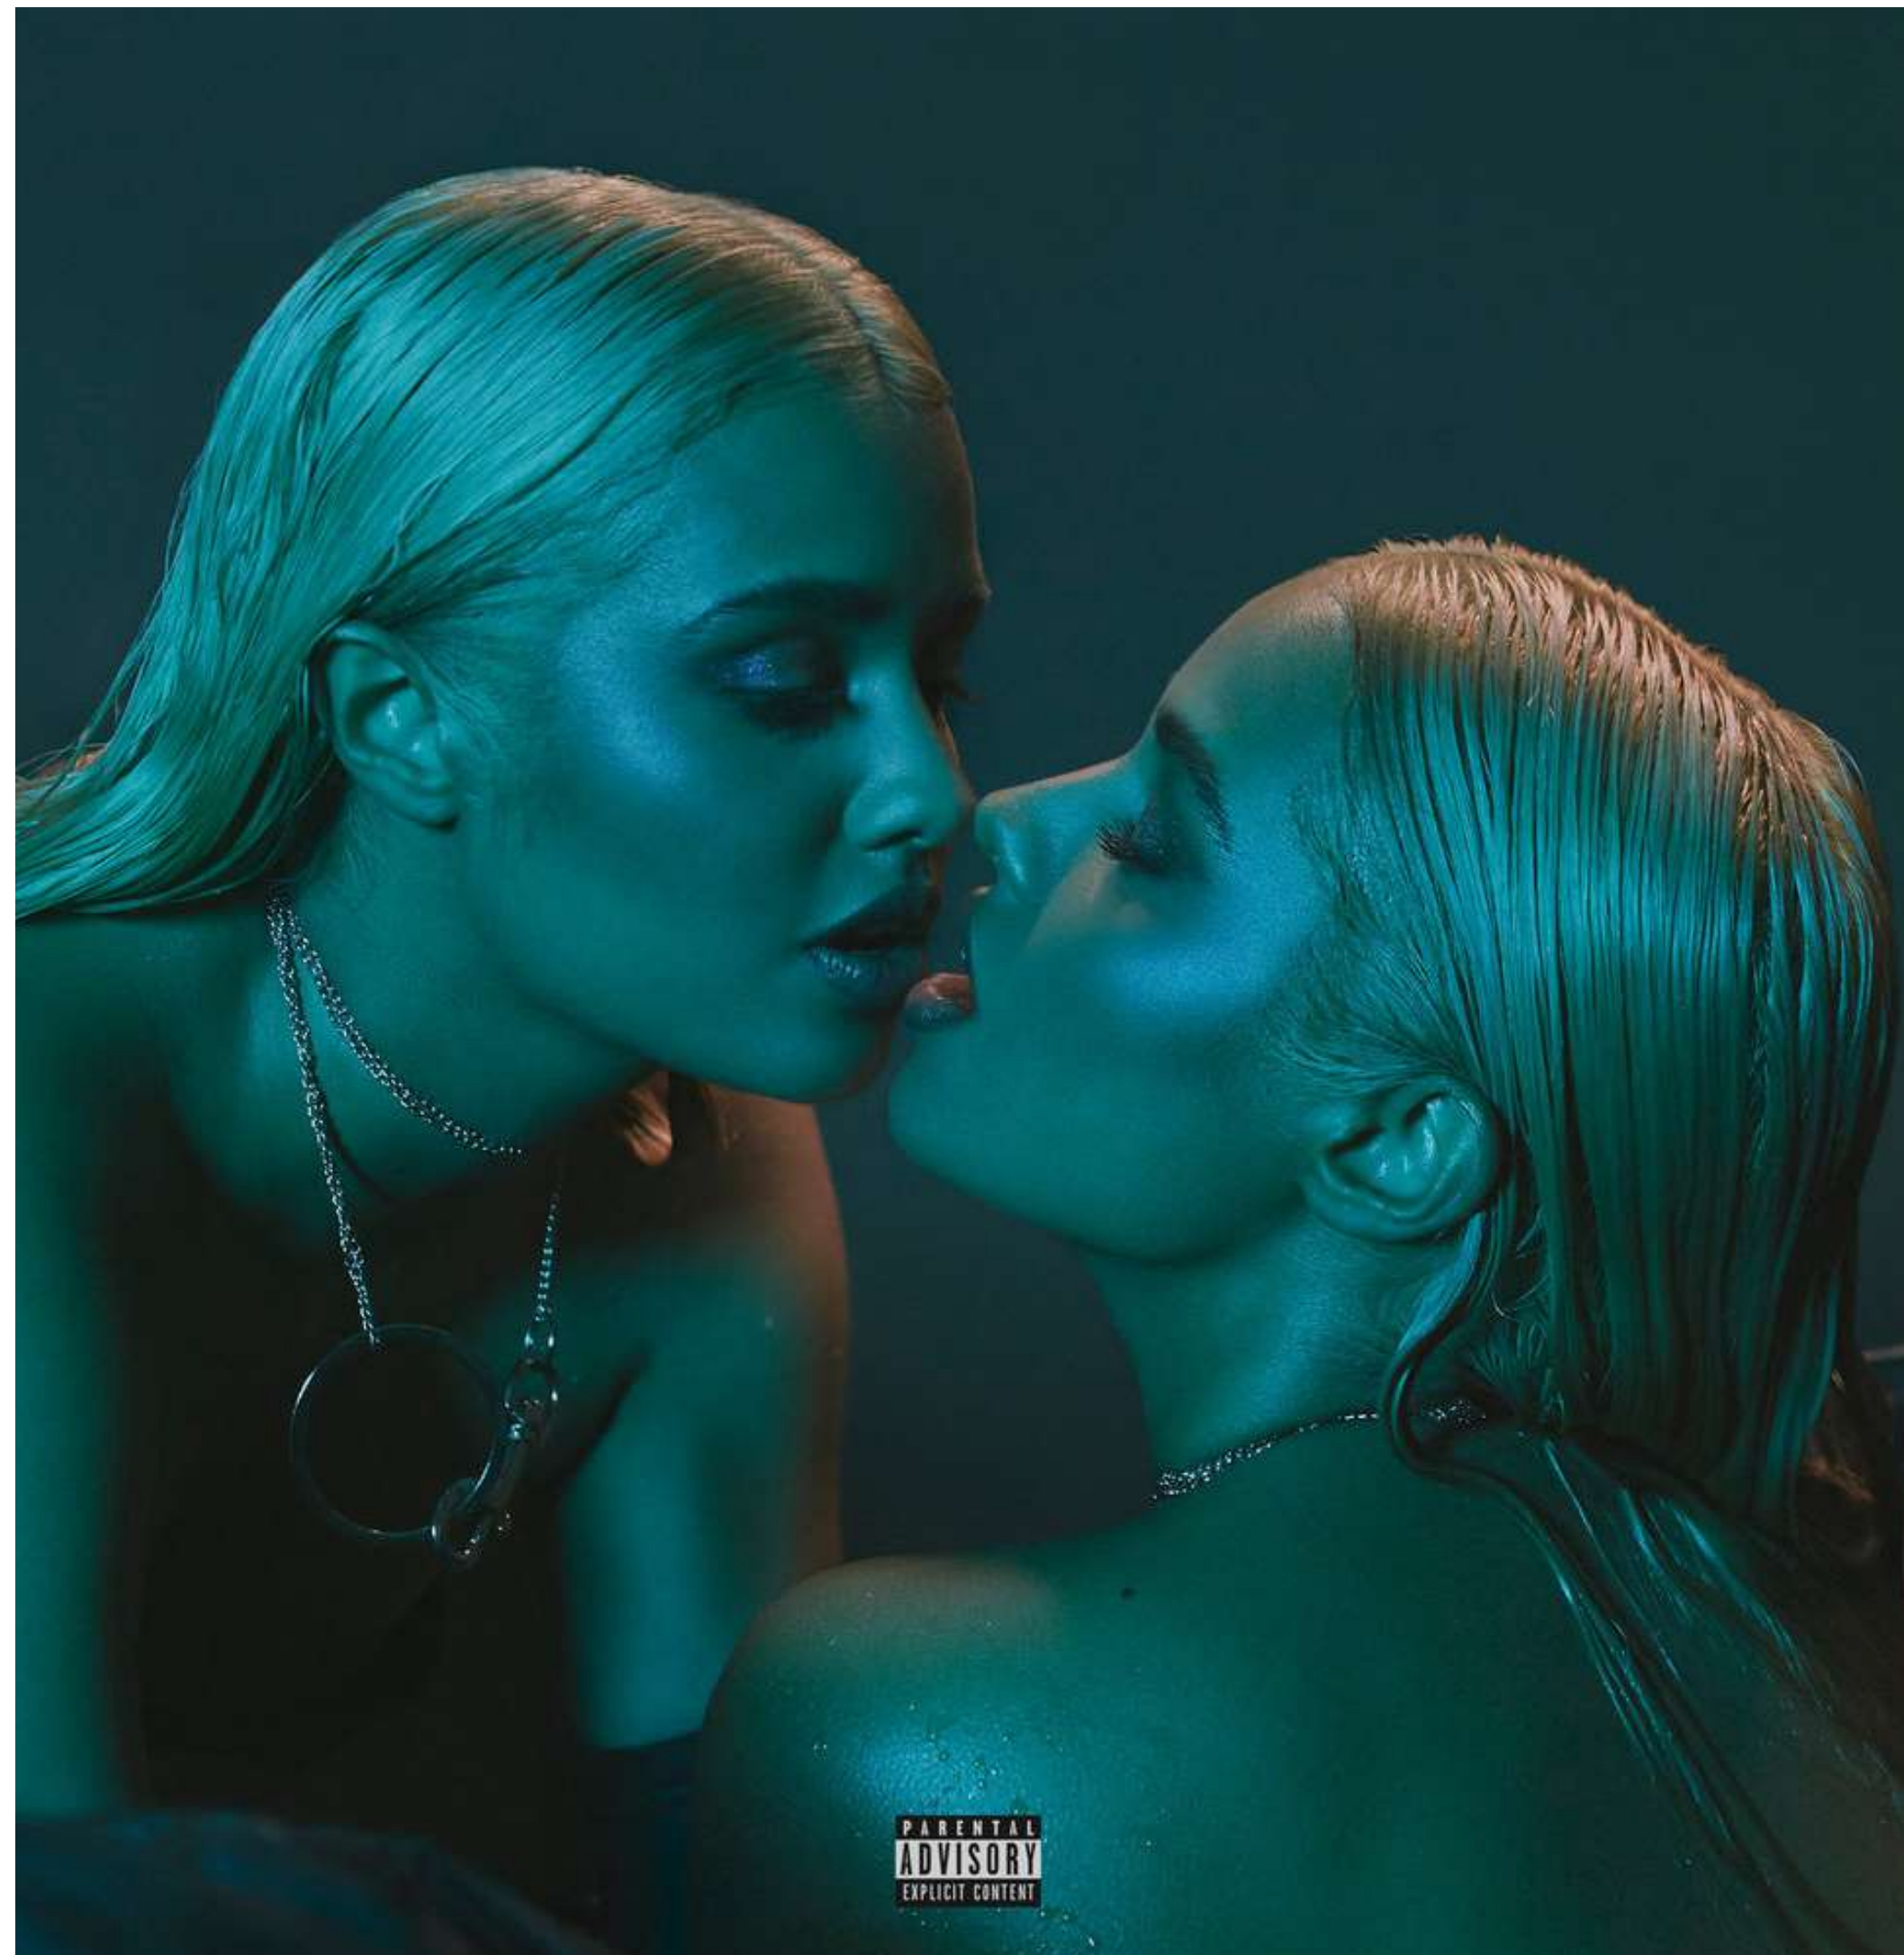

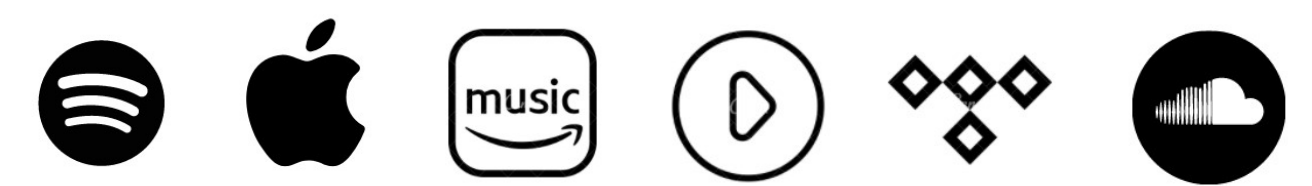

BIO

Tommy Genesis is a Canadian rapper, model and visual artist described by Dazed magazine as “the internet’s most rebellious underground rap queen.” Her music has been noted for its experimental style and hyper sexual, aggressive verses. After releasing her debut self-titled album, Tommy Genesis, in 2018, Tommy has been on several world tours and has made her mark in the fashion world modelling for Calvin Klein’s 2016 fall campaign, performing at Miu Miu Resort 2017 and sitting front row for brands such as Chanel and Marc Jacobs.

In 2019, Tommy became a brand ambassador for Fenty Beauty, a campaign face for Fenty Skin and was also featured by Rihanna in her ‘Rihannazine’, her special issue of i-D dedicated to people reshaping the culture across fashion, music, art and activism. 2019 also saw Tommy debut her first art exhibition entitled, “You Could Be My Mainstream, I Could Be Your Underworld” featuring a series of charcoal paintings, and new single “Cinderelly” with a Tidal x Bershka capsule collection. Currently, Tommy is working on her much anticipated second album set for release in 2021.
